

blades, string and gloves—personal hygiene kits—sanitary napkins, soap, laundry detergent, dental supplies—reestablish maternal health services, prevent and treat cases of violence against women and youth, offer psychological support and counseling, and promote access of unaccompanied women to vital services. Each of these issues is a serious problem in the region and will go a long way toward helping save the lives of thousands of women and their children.

These people have suffered enough. We must do everything we can to help them. This is why I ask support from my colleagues for the Women, Children, and Infant Tsunami Victim Relief Act of 2005.

HONORING JACKIE ROBINSON RECEIVING THE CONGRESSIONAL GOLD MEDAL

HON. XAVIER BECERRA

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, March 2, 2005

Mr. BECERRA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate April 15—no, not Tax Day—but that memorable day in 1947 when Jackie Robinson officially broke the color barrier of Major League Baseball by donning a Brooklyn Dodgers uniform.

In the face of great adversity and knowing that the hopes of African-American athletes in all sports rested on his shoulders, Jackie Robinson provided inspiration to all of America in his courageous pursuit of racial equality.

By simply putting on his spikes, wearing his Dodgers uniform, and taking the field on that great day, Jackie Robinson forever changed the landscape of the American sports scene; indeed, he fueled a change in the hearts and minds of our great Nation.

Jackie Robinson stared bitter opposition and oppressive racism in the face, all while achieving unparalleled success. He was named the National League Rookie of the Year in 1947 and earned National League Most Valuable Player honors in 1949. In 1962, Jackie became the first African-American to be inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Known for his gifted batting, blinding speed around the bases, and strong but steady temperament, Jackie Robinson won the respect of teammates and opponents alike. He led the Dodgers to six pennants and their first World Championship as a member of the famed "Boys of Summer" in 1955.

Although he played in New York, Jackie Robinson was actually a southern California local. He grew up in Pasadena, CA, and was a star athlete while attending the University of California at Los Angeles. Jackie's long-standing commitment to Dodgers heritage and his strong Southern California roots make us proud and endear him to Dodgers fans from Brooklyn to Los Angeles and everywhere in between.

Jackie Robinson's sacrifice on and off the field has had a lasting impact on our nation. An athlete, businessman, and civic leader, Jackie helped blaze a trail for the civil rights movement in the years after his career as a player had ended. He conquered countless steep barriers with faith, dignity and grace, and he stands as a noble symbol of change in creating a more just American society for all.

Jackie Robinson's spirit is still with us today. Jackie's life and principles are the basis for the Jackie Robinson Foundation, which keeps his memory alive by providing children of low-income families with leadership and educational opportunities. Perhaps Jackie Robinson himself said it best: "A life is not important, except in the impact it has on other lives."

To honor Jackie for his countless and valuable contributions, Major League Baseball declared in 2003 that on April 15 each year, all Major League clubs will recognize this remarkable athlete and man. That same year my colleagues and I passed legislation honoring Jackie Robinson with a National Day of Recognition and awarding him the Congressional Gold Medal, the highest honor bestowed by Congress. Almost 58 years after Jackie Robinson trotted out to first base in a Brooklyn Dodgers uniform, the President today will present the Congressional Gold Medal to Jackie's wife Rachel, daughter Sharon and son David, along with other members of the Robinson family.

I can think of no better tribute than to proclaim April 15 "Jackie Robinson Day." Jackie's contributions and sacrifices not only changed a sport, but touched a nation. No athlete may have had a greater long-term impact on his sport or society than Mr. Robinson.

Mr. Speaker, it gives me great pride and honor to ask my colleagues to join me today in saluting Mr. Jackie Robinson as the recipient of the Congressional Gold Medal and as a great American most deserving of his National Day of Recognition. Jackie Robinson's contributions have truly helped to make America "one nation."

HONORING ROTARY INTERNATIONAL

HON. DALE E. KILDEE

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, March 2, 2005

Mr. KILDEE. Mr. Speaker, I ask the House of Representatives to join me in congratulating Rotary International on celebrating its 100th anniversary. On Saturday, February 26, the Rotary Clubs of Genesee, Shiawasee and Lapeer Counties will celebrate this milestone with a Centennial Gala to be held at Genesys Banquet Center in Grand Blanc, Michigan.

Rotary International, founded on February 23, 1905, is a worldwide organization of business and professional leaders that provide humanitarian service, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations, and help build goodwill and peace in the world. Approximately 1.2 million Rotarians belong to more than 31,000 Rotary Clubs located in 166 countries. In Rotary Area Seven, which includes my district, there are almost 600 members making the commitment to address community and international issues.

Rotarians are committed to the motto "Service Above Self" and to "The Four-Way Test" of business ethics, a philosophy that encourages truth, fairness, goodwill, and mutual benefit in all professional actions.

The Four-Way Test:

1. Is it the Truth?
2. Is it Fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build Goodwill and Better Friendships?
4. Will it be Beneficial to all concerned?

They support efforts to provide educational opportunities and to meet basic human needs because these efforts are essential steps to greater world understanding, goodwill, and peace. The founding of Rotary International encouraged the creation and expansion of service clubs in the 20th century, and these service clubs generated a formalized spirit of community volunteerism throughout the United States and the world.

The PolioPlus program, created by Rotary International to fight the dreaded disease, has helped to vaccinate more than two billion children. They are the only nongovernmental organization to join in partnership with the World Health Organization, the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention to achieve the goal of the total eradication of polio in 2005. Their work is an outstanding and noteworthy humanitarian effort by a nonprofit organization.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the House of Representatives to join me in congratulating Rotary International on celebrating its 100th anniversary. As a Rotary Club fellowship beneficiary, I can attest to the unwavering support they give to the community and applaud their involvement in the State of Michigan and beyond.
